In order to hold students accountable for their time at the State Leadership Conference, many advisers have required their students to complete the "Student Accountability Journal," which is now posted on the main page of the PA FBLA web site (as well as the downloadables site).

This accountability journal will no longer appear in the centerfold on the program. Chapter advisers who wish to use this journal must copy their own journals and bring them to the SLC. The other option is to use the digital journal as there is a downloadable Microsoft Word version that can be downloaded and edited or used with Google Docs.

Here's how you can hold your students accountable:

1. All students are required to attend the Opening General Session and the Awards Program and their competitive event.
2. Voting delegates are required to attend the Campaign Rally immediately before the Opening General Session.
3. Non-voting delegates should be held accountable for a minimum of 8 hours above and beyond that; voting delegates should be held accountable for a minimum of 6 hours above and beyond the required sessions.

Student Accountability Procedures:

Each workshop has its own unique QR Code for students to use to receive credit for attending your session. Students with a smartphone may scan the QR Code at the end of the session when leaving the room. If a student does not have a smartphone, we are asking the presenter/facilitator to sign the student's Accountability Journal at the end of the presentation. Without a smartphone or journal, the student is responsible for signing their name and school into the Workshop Log Sheet found in the 3-ring binder.

To meet the hour requirements, students have the option of attending the workshops and the many event performances listed in the journal. You have the option to expect more from your students, too. For those students who will be sequestered in competitive events, advisers may need to modify expectations due to the length of time they are sequestered.
