Dear PA FBLA Members and Advisers:

It is my honor, as the PA FBLA State President, to welcome you to the 2018-2019 FBLA year. Although most of you still have a little while longer until the end of your summer break, I hope you experienced a relaxing, fun-filled summer away from work and school and are ready to conquer a new year as you Create...Lead...Inspire!

This summer, many members, advisers, and guests represented PA FBLA at the 2018 NLC in Baltimore, Maryland. The NLC provided various those in attendance with numerous opportunities to network and compete. Once again, our members made us Pennsylvania Proud as they brought home numerous awards. Congratulations to all of our competitors, as well as our national award winners.

In this upcoming year, there will be various ways that you can Create...Lead...Inspire within your chapter, region, state, and even nation. I encourage each of you to start thinking about and choose a competitive event that suits your interests and abilities. In addition to competing, you can also participate in the goals and programs of work that that your state officer team has set for the 2018-2019 year, which will help continue the PA FBLA legacy of hard work and determination.

The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society (LLS) has been selected as our state project the 2018-2019 year. This organization will provide you with many opportunities to contribute both monetarily and through volunteering. Check out the information that will be provided in the state project section of the PA FBLA website to learn about how to get involved with LLS. With your help, we will crush our $62,000 fundraising goal.

Last but not least, I hope all of you make the most your 2018-2019 FBLA year by attending the conferences and workshops PA FBLA has to offer. Encourage Make your respective chapters to participate in excited your RLW and RLC. Also, don't forget to sign up for the 2018 PA FBLA SLW, to be held November 4-5 at Kalahari Resorts & Convention Center, which boasts America's largest indoor waterpark.

Make the most of this coming year. Don't be afraid to get involved and to truly receive the benefits PA FBLA has to offer. On behalf of your newly elected state officer team, I wish you the best of luck.
